MyNursingLab should only be purchased when required by an instructor. A patient-centered approach to pharmacology Pharmacology: Connections to Nursing Practice tightly links pharmacology to nursing practice and patient care, recognizing that for nurses, pharmacology is not an abstract academic discipline but rather a critical tool to prevent disease and promote healing and wellness. It offers unsurpassed features designed to illuminate connections between pharmacology and practice, from patient scenarios and practice applications to coverage of lifespan considerations, patient education, alternative therapies, and gender/cultural influences. Learning is simplified through the use of prototype drugs, as well as outstanding full-color illustrations. Organization by body systems (units) and diseases (chapters) places the drugs in context with how they are used therapeutically and connects pharmacology and pathophysiology to nursing care. The Third Edition covers 25 new medications approved by the FDA since the previous edition, a new chapter on Individual Variations in Drug Responses, and updated review questions that better prepare students for exams.

Michael Patrick Adams, PhD, is an accomplished educator, author, and national speaker. The National Institute for Staff and Organizational Development in Austin, Texas, named Dr. Adams a Master Teacher. He has published two other textbooks with Pearson Education: Core Concepts in Pharmacology and Pharmacology for Nurses: A Pathophysiologic Approach. Dr. Adams obtained his master's degree in pharmacology from Michigan State University and his doctorate in education from the University of South Florida. Dr. Adams was on the faculty of Lansing Community College and St. Petersburg College, and was Dean of Health Programs at Pasco-Hernando Community College for 15 years. He is currently Professor of Biological Sciences at Pasco-Hernando Community College. Carol Quam Urban, PhD, RN, is the Assistant Dean for Undergraduate Nursing and an Assistant Professor in the School of Nursing, College of Health and Human Services, at George Mason University in Fairfax, Virginia. She teaches pharmacology and pathophysiology and serves as a doctoral advisor for students in administrative practicum experiences, as well as Chair and Reader on dissertation committees. At Mason, she serves on the Distance Education Council and the General Education Committee and has presented on "Lessons Learned: Launching a Fully Online RN-to-BSN Pathway." She has published the Pearson textbook Pharmacology for Nurses: A Pathophysiologic Approach with Dr. Adams and Dr. Holland.

Used it for a RN to BSN program. Sadly, I wish this book was ordered for my pre-licensure program because it is an excellent textbook. Its quite large as there is obviously a lot of material to cover, but I find the chapters are very manageable. Very few chapters are greater than 20 pages and many are actually 10-15 pages or less. Within each chapter, the material is presented in a very concise yet robust manner. It reads very easily. I still remember my pre-licensure program pharm textbook. It was horrible - needlessly long chapters, disjointed presentation of material within chapters, etc.

This book is actually really good. They make sure you get the concept of whatever the topic is by repeatin it over and over again.

Easy to read because the languages is clear and explanatory. The chapters are short making the reading not boring. The best Pharmacology and nursing book I have ever read

very good book

Came in great condition!

The size of the book is what scares me. Non the less it arrived on time.

Good book. Happy with it.

Must have nice short chapters
