Christine Coirault is a published author and an illustrator of children's books. Some of the published credits of Christine Coirault include Gymboree Colors, Gymboree Shapes, Gymboree Alphabet (Gymboree Play & Music), and Gymboree Numbers: Learn to count in five languages (English, Spanish, French, German, Italian) (Gymboree).

This is a great board book. I bought all four. At first I thought it was a little too hoity-toity, all the languages and all (really, what toddler is going to pick this stuff up?). But surprisingly, they DO pick this stuff up! Without being militant about it, we just go ahead and pronounce the words as we go along, and our two year old does pick them up. These are great!

Illustrations are nice and the initial concept would be great. Unfortunately, they didn't complete that concept. The colours are provided in 5 languages, but the coloured objects given as examples are ONLY in English - this was really disappointing. Yes, you could learn the colours in 5 languages, but I was hoping for a truly multi-lingual book.

I bought the whole collection of these for my 4 year old grandson. I bought them used because finding a new one is almost impossible and so expensive. The used books were all in great condition. He is actually learning the different languages with these little books. Very well done. Well worth the money.

good book for kids

My 18 month old loves the simple pictures in these books and we use them to teach more than just colors. We point out pictures, count and of course use the other languages provided to teach new words.
