Matthias Thun is the son of Maria Thun, the biodynamic pioneer who died in 2012. On their farm in Germany, Matthias is continuing her research into the effects of biodynamic agricultural methods.

This calendar is my must have every year for my planning of what to work on in my gardens. What days to not do anything. What days to transplant, work on composts, start seeds, propagate, harvest, bake bread or harvest honey.. even which days wines taste best. I win awards for my biodynamic probiotic gardening principles, honey, dandelion wine, veggies, fruits and herbs!

I actually thought it was a wall calendar, but it isn't. Oops. It's more like a booklet with calendar dates in a grid inside. I have to say, it's rather difficult to decipher with all the little symbols and it would be SO much more user friendly if it were a wall calendar size. As it is, I'm just not using it.

This is a must have for anyone who is interested in natural gardening. I have kept my issues all the way back to 2010. I also have given the calendar as gifts to family and friends.

Can't imagine planning or planting without this calendar. Better quality plants, less irrigation, higher yield, and longer-lasting harvests.

I always have such fantastic success with this calendar. I use it primarily to sow seeds and transplant seedlings, but am curious about the more detailed applications concerning soil fertility and pest control. I would definitely recommend this to anyone that wants to have a deeper connection to their plants and the life forces that affect their development.

Great little guide, not overly information dense but features a very complete calendar.

I love that this has a pull-out calendar that makes it so much easier to keep track of planting dates.

This is the best American Biodynamic calendar I've ever found! Clear complete info. put together very simply with cool pull out for the year as well. Will be getting this again in the future.
