Quebec: City Of Lights

Synopsis

As the days and seasons go by... a stroll through old Québec. In Québec, the light changes everything. The urban landscape, the squares and streets, the stone walls and the array of bronze statues constantly change appearance under the play of light and shade. Inside the 400-year-old capital, architecture and city scenes speak with the voices of history, expressing the values that have shaped the land Claudel Huot photographie sa ville depuis plus de 30 ans, toujours avec la même fascination et la même surprise devant la lumière évoquatrice de Québec. Il demeure dans la Basse-Ville, point de départ de ses promenades pied ou vélo, l'appareil photo à la portée de la main. Michel Lessard est un historien de l'art québécois et un scénariste. Pendant de nombreuses années, il a enseigné l'histoire de l'art et la muséologie à l'Université du Québec à Montréal. Communicateur culturel dont le travail est salué par de nombreux prix, il a reçu en 1996 le prix Gérard-Morisset, la plus haute distinction décernée par le gouvernement québécois dans le domaine du patrimoine. Michel Lessard est membre de la Société des Dix, une académie d'historiens créée en 1935.

I thought I bought a new book, but it was used. Worn cover. Some discarded notes written in French on the inside. Was not in good shape, but again I thought I was buying a new book. Disappointed.

good product for the money.

Couldn't wait to receive this book, and I didn't have long to wait. Thanks!

Excellent. Just as promised.

If you're looking for an armchair travel book, this isn't it. Instead it's a (non-technical) book very particularly about light, photography, and Quebec City. Sort of a love letter to the city, from a photographer. If you're visiting QC and want to take great photos, this could help. Can't fathom why these sellers are charging upwards of $100, when in Canada is selling for C$30. Outrageous!
