Norman Bridwell was the author and illustrator of numerous children's books, including the beloved Clifford series. The delightful stories about a big red dog named Clifford and his friend, Emily Elizabeth, have sold over 126 million copies in 13 languages!

My 2 year old son likes the "Clifford the Small Red Puppy" series so I bought this book. It's a very cute book that teaches simple opposites such as big and small, asleep and awake. The book does this by comparing Clifford and his friend, another dog. What bothered me though was that the other dog was referred to throughout the book as merely Clifford's friend. It sounded unnatural, and lazy on the author's part not to provide a name for the other dog. Any name would have been better than "Clifford's friend".

We love Clifford. We read this book every night before bed. It is a good book and it is short so it doesn't lose her attention. I also love that it is a board book. She cannot tear the pages of this book.

Great way to introduce weather to my toddler granddaughter!

Grandbaby loves it.

Sweet little book about opposites. I love the Clifford books and my daughter enjoys them, too!

Anyone that knows about the big red dog know it's got to be Clifford!! The story is as cute as the rest of the Clifford collection. The pictures are colorful and always capture the attention of little ones!!! My children loved reading about Clifford and now my grandchildren love them too!!!

Baby loves this book.

I bought the three Clifford books because someone had taken Clifford's Christmas from our school library. We also did not have the books about Clifford and snow and Clifford's kitten. These books are very popular with kindergarten and first graders, as well as some second graders, and are checked out each week. The children really enjoy them. I volunteer at Coyle Avenue School in Carmichael and the children in this school are in a transitional neighborhood, sometimes as many as 5 or 6 leaving the school in a week, so it was nice to find something they liked for such a reasonable price. Thank you.
